

“Cookie”-Elizabeth Rose – Bio

Cookie currently works for the Alaska Natives into Psychology (ANPsych) program as an adjunct teacher and as a Research Assistant for the “Alaska Native Science Research Partnerships for Health” (ANSRPH) and “National Resource Center for American Indian, Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian Elders at UAA. Cookie is an Athabascan mother of 3 and grandmother of 3, raising a grandson. She is currently a consultant for Tri-Ethnic Center; University of Colorado for Community Readiness and HIV Prevention. Cookie is a certified Family Systems Trainer, founding council member of the Rural Human Services Certificate Program, and current board member for the Alaska Attachment & Bonding Associates (AABA). She has worked for the healing and empowerment of Native people, families, and communities.